

CHILL: BLACK MORN MANOR

Variant: Water Hazards

I recently purchased this game, but have played it through the years in my dreams. The first time my gaming buddy played this with Laura and I, he claimed that he had encountered this game in his dreams as well. So although we all were rank novices, we felt right at home.

It always seemed to me as if there were a few extra tiles included in dreams that were not commercially available. I remember POND and WELL. Graham remembers SWAMP.

Consider:

- Numbers 2, 3, and 8 are unrepresented in the tile stack.
- There are only 48 tiles to fill 49 spaces.
- By cutting off Sets, it's possible to leave a sizable part of the board unfilled.
- Three additional tiles covering those open numbers seems only natural.

Components from dreams...

The Manor is hard enough to build as is, so no more Manor tiles, especially without more Monster cards. So only the Outer Grounds get new tiles. Print and layer thin cardboard to the proper thickness. Add to the mix and enjoy!

Thanks to Laura R. for the illustrations.

TT 4/2/07

